

Governor inspires club

Lynda Greyling

Jaco Stander, district governor of Rotary District 3970, visited Bethlehem Rotary on Wednesday (07/08).

Stander, who was inaugurated in July, will be visiting all 88 Rotary Clubs during his term, with Bethlehem being his seventh stop.

His vision for Rotary is that together people can create change, with the theme "Rotary Connect the World".

"People inspire each other. It is all about connections."

When telling Dr Bruce Staples about a fellow Rotarian in need of equipment to be able to specialise as an ophthalmologist, Staples told him he upgraded recently and that he would donate his extra equipment.

"This is how you create magic."

Stander said he would like to see a growing membership, with younger people joining Rotary. With a younger generation, new values can be set.

He also urged members to support the Rotary Foundation and in return receive global grants to multiply money for projects.

"Be a proud Rotarian, by wearing your badges."

Animals 'win' in sweepstake

Within three months, the organisers of the first Cluny Animal Trust Sweepstake reached their goal of raising R100 000.

According to Brenda Shepherd, the Cluny Animal Trust Sweepstake, with a thousand tickets at R100 each, was launched on 1 May.

The goal was set to raise R100 000 by 31 July. Altogether 75% of the proceeds was directed to the Cluny Animal Trust, while the remaining R25 000 went to a single prize winner.

On 5 August, ds. Sakkie van den Bergh was blindfolded before drawing the winning ticket.

Sonet Visagie from Bethlehem was announced as the winner.

The Cluny Animal Trust is a non-profit organisation that visits towns and townships in the Eastern Free State with a mobile clinic.

More than 350 sterilisations are performed every year. A part of the trust's work is to educate pet owners on proper animal care and feeding.

The Cluny Animal Trust also held a market day in Clarens on Saturday (10/08).

The annual potjiekos competition will be held on 22 September.
